Study the Word of God

- A simple way to start studying the Bible is observation, interpretation, and application

Step 1: Observation—What does the passage say?

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Why Did God Make the Bible So Hard to Understand?

- Observation is the first and most important step in how to study the Bible.

Step 2: Interpretation—What does the passage mean?

- Interpretation is discovering the meaning of a passage, the author's main thought or idea.
- Answering the questions that arise during observation will help you in the process of interpretation.
- Five clues (called "the five C's") can help you determine the author's main point(s):
 1. Context: Read the passages around the text
 2. Cross Reference: Let Scripture interpret Scripture.
 3. Culture. The Bible was written long ago, so when we interpret it, we need to understand it from the writers' cultural context.
 4. Conclusion. Having answered your questions for understanding by means of context, cross-reference, and culture, you can make a preliminary statement of the passage's meaning. Remember that if your passage consists of more than one paragraph, the author may be presenting more than one thought or idea.
 5. Consultation. Reading books known as commentaries, which are written by Bible scholars, can help you interpret Scripture.

Step 3: Application—What am I going to do about what the passage says and means?

- Application is why we study the Bible
- We want our lives to change; we want to be obedient to God and to grow more like Jesus Christ.
- After we have observed a passage and interpreted or understood it to the best of our ability, we must then apply its truth to our own life.
